Incantation, 8 to 1, won the Fashion Stakes for 3-year-olds by a head from the favorite, Bellatrix.

The demonstration accorded Africander after he had won the last race has seldem been equalled on a race track. He was making his first appearance of the year and picked up 126 pounds, conceding from six to thirty-six nounds to the field. He was shut off and pocketed on the buck stretch and compelled to come on the outside, and gained a verdict by a short head. On his performance to-day he is almost sure to start in the Brooklyn Handicap May 25. Summaries:

MESSENGER WON REPUBLIC HANDICAP; LUCIAN FIRST IN LUCAS MEMORIAL

Bellew Entry Landed First in the Feature Event at Union Park-Johnson's Colt Beat Charley Thompson in the Delmar Course Handicap-Bluish a Winner at Good Price.

UNION TRACK. Messenger, cleverly ridden by Jockey C. Ross, won the feature, The St. Louis Republic Handicap, at Union Park

It was a race in which every horse appeared to have a chance to win as the big field rounded the stretch.

They came into the straight like a cav alry troop. It was by far the prettiest race seen at the track, and it was the general expression among the crowd that it was one of the best ever seen in St.

It is perhaps needless to say that The Messenger was best. The horse that wins is always the best, for one can cash a ticket on a winner.

Of the starters in the comparatively large field, Kenova was the only one having an excuse. She was interfered with badly at the first turn; had to be pulled up and go around the bunch, only to be cketed again in the back turn. Again the mare went around the field, was cut off and pocketed a third time at the head off and pocketed a third time at the head of the stretch.

Ross gave The Messenger a masterly ride, rating his mount all the way and not calling his mount all the way and arrived to expend the speed reserved for the final struggle as they neared the wire. The Messenger won hand-ridden, while Macbeth and Palm Reader, who finished second and third, were driven vigorously. The start was good. Erbe broke with the bunch, but lost considerable ground before getting well in motion.

McKinney ruined the chances of Palm Reader by wasting the speed and energy on his mount in chasing the light-weight Sneer, who did the front running to the three-quarters.

Macbeth ran his usual good, honest race and showed improved form over his last out.

It is said that the books handled a large sum of money on the race, as nearly every horse in the event was played heavily. The luik of the play, however, went to The Messenger, Palm Reader and Animosty. The average price on The Messenger was 16 to 5.

By winning again yesterday in the trid event. Eliush upset the calculations of the taleut. Boomerack and Paul Whaley were heavily played and Bluish closed at the liberal price of 7 to 1. Boomerack ran a singgish race. Paul Whaley was ill fit and was never seriously in the trunning Jerf, a big, fine-looking aged horse, owned by C. Brelsford, broke with the bunch, but wheeled after leaving the barrier and lost thirty lengths. With a great burst of speed he closed the gap and ran well up with the others at the finish.

Lord Hermence, an odds-on, had things pretty much his own way in the fourth race of the race, and bringing up the rear.

Thompson stracked down the back stretch as though he was in a five-furious stretch as though he was fins for the track, and the field was well strug out as troched the stable urn, shot and the field was well strug out as troch as the field was strated for the stretch turn. The part of a mile backers to their feel back his stretch as though the stable and the field was the struck of more and the field was stru mosity. The average price on The Messenger was 18 to 5.

By winning again yesterday in the third event. Bluish opent the calculations of the taleat. Boomerack and Paul Whaley were heavily played and Bluish closed at the liberal price of 7 to 1. Boomerack ran a singuish race. Paul Whaley was ill fit and was never seriously in the running. Jeff, a big, fine-looking aged horse, owned by C. Breistord, broke with the bunch, but wheeled after leaving the barrier and lost thirty lengths. With a great burst of speed he closed the gap and ran well up with the others at the finish.

Lord Hermence, an odds-on, had things pretty much his own way in the fourth race. Lampadrone, a son of Lamplighter, put up a good race and finished second.

McKinney gave Cheny a clever ride in the first race and placed him all the way. The regular attendants will doubtless watch Cheny's next out. Ora McKinley won handily.

Duellet, an odds-on favorite, was ten won handily.

Duelist, an odds-on favorite, was ten lengths ahead at the three-quarters, then quit like a steer in the road, and the winner turned up in Morendo. Chicago Girl, held in the books at 20. 8 and 4, ran second. El Ghor was short.

They couldn't keep Capinin Rice out of the money altogether, and his Orleans won the sixth race? Eufaula ran a good race. It was her first start at the track.

It was a good day's racing. The improved time made in all the races shows that the track is getting better every day.

Princess Orna won her third straight race by capturing the second event from Joe Kelley. She was favorite in the betting, being held at even money, while 2 to I was offered against the Baker coit. She outbroke Kelley, outran him in the early stages and drew away from him in the stretch run, winning the event handly.

Next to the stake, interest probably centered in the fifth race, where old Elastic made his initial appearance of the year.

While but three contenders started, speculation on the outcome was heavy enough to make it one of the good betting races of the day. Elastic was second choice at 5 to 2, but he ran in his old-time fashion and won easily. 153. Seventh race, purse 1000, selling, six furt the sepa

Peter Paul pulled up lame and left the track limping. He raced to-day with a protecting plate over his bruised heel and it is orobable that this wound was recopened. Bradley said, however, that it was not serious and would not keep him from preparing for the 3-year-old American Derby. The race was won easily by Floral King, the 6-to-5 favorite, while Monastle, the second choice at 3 to 1, had all he could do to beat Peter Paul a nose, and that through Henry's superior finish over Sherwood. Peter Paul was well played, opening at 4 and closing at 7 to 2.

The attendance at the opening was smaller than expected, although several hundred persons were scated in the large grand stand. The small crowd was due partly to the inchement weather and the lack of car facilities.

The cars near the State buildings stopped, and the only way to reach the Stadium, which is at the western part of the grounds, was to walk.

The shot-put, hammer-throw, broadjump and $80-yard-run records were broken.
